Located on the Montagne de Reims, in the heart of the Champagne region, the Arlaux vineyard is one of the most historic in Champagne. Its history can be traced back over 1000 years, with the earliest available documents dating back to 838 AD.

Today, the Arlaux vineyard is entirely classified as Premier Cru, and has been farmed without insecticides or pesticides for over 25 years. Aged on the lees from 3 to 15 years before release, Arlaux champagnes offer fine bubbles and delicate aromas. With flattering reviews from the international press, Arlaux champagnes are served on the most prestigious tables all over the world.
